SCUBA Diving is an equipment intensive sport and the environment we dive is an inherently hostile environment to humans. SCUBA equipment allows us to safely enter this magical world.

The service difference at PLUNGE is we spend time with you and we know our dive equipment. We are happy to take the time to explain dive equipment so you can make an informed decision on what equipment is suitable for you and your diving needs. This is incredibly important when you realise that dive equipment is actually "life-support" equipment.

After many years of trial and error with different brands and types of equipment, we have come up with the best combination of dive equipment that offers functionality, durability, quality, reliability and good looks!

Cressi-sub is the oldest underwater diving company in the world. Egidio and Nanni Cressi, two brothers with a passion for the sea, founded Cressi-Sub in 1946. Cressi products mark the evolution and transformation of diving over the past sixty years, with a series of inventions and insights that have been emulated by other manufacturers worldwide. So, the history of underwater diving itself is identified with the history of Cressi-sub. Today, Cressi is a fully Italian-owned company, the only privately owned dive manufacturer of it's size in the world today.

The Cressi brothers began the company by personally trialing each and every product themselves. The value of experience and putting each piece of product through real-life sea-trials are still unqualified principles of the company today. Any new product, even though it is now computer designed and manufactured using machinery of futuristic technology, must pass the tests of long use in the sea before it receives the go-ahead for production. This is the philosophy of Antonio Cressi, who has been part of the company since he was a boy and who continues the tradition and passion of his father and uncle.

The assurance that Cressi dive equipment has been tested for quality, durability and functionality distinguishes Cressi-sub from other dive brands and is why PLUNGE supports this brand so passionately. And being an Italian manufactured product it means you'll only ever look stylish in your equipment.
